KRAFT GLOBAL FELLOWS PROGRAM

The Kraft Global Fellows Program is an initiative of the Kraft Family Fund for Intercultural and Interfaith Awareness and the Office of the University Chaplain. Applications are now being accepted for the Winter 2017 Kraft Global Fellows research trip to India and the Columbia Global Center: Mumbai. The group research project will focus on the religions, cultures and communities of Mumbai and New Delhi. The project, led by Jewelnel Davis, University Chaplain and Associate Provost, is designed with and coordinated by Dr. Ravina Aggarwal, Director of the CGC: Mumbai, and mentors from her team at the CGC.

Funding for the program is from the Kraft Family Fund for Interfaith and Intercultural Awareness; covered expenses include roundtrip airfare from NYC to Mumbai and return to NYC and lodging. Students must have a current passport that will not expire before July 1st, 2017. Dates of the trip are January 3rd – January 15th, 2017.

Program Mission:

- Provide an opportunity for Columbia University students to add a global perspective to their Columbia University academic experience by utilizing the resources of the Columbia Global Centers. Moreover, for this year's program, we encourage the Fellows to explore relevant topics such as multi-faith interconnectivity and issues of diversity in Mumbai.
- Enrich the Columbia University community by creating opportunities for students to share their research, their experience, and the resources of the Columbia Global Centers once they return. Must be returning to campus for the Fall and Spring semester of academic year 2017-2018.
- Promote interfaith and cross-cultural understanding.

Guidelines for Applications:

- Please send a letter detailing your interest in the Kraft Global Fellows Program group research trip, an updated resume, a current list of student activities and leadership roles at Columbia University, an official transcript, a copy of your passport, and two letters of recommendation – at least one from your academic advisor and/or a faculty member. Deadline for submission of these materials is October 21, 2017 before 5:00pm. Please send these materials to mouhamadou.diaigne@columbia.edu.

Application Process:

- Students are required to interview with Chaplain Davis and the KGF advisory team to discuss their interests in this group project. Interviews will be conducted on October 26th through October 28th, 2016. Only students that have submitted all of the requested materials by October 21, 2016 will be considered. Students selected for interviews will be contacted on October 24th.

Requirements:

- Fellows must be currently registered Columbia University undergraduate or graduate students. Unfortunately, students at affiliated institutions cannot be considered for the Kraft Global Fellows Program.
- Fellows should anticipate out-of-pocket expenses of approximately $500. This includes personal needs items such as drinking water, hand sanitizers, motion sickness medication and computer travel adapters. Some meals, snacks and social activities will also be considered out-of-pocket expenses. Students must pay for all travel vaccinations and medications they require.

- Students will submit daily 1-2 page reflection papers to Chaplain Davis at chaplain@columbia.edu before 11:00pm (local Indian time) beginning January 5th through January 13th. On February 3rd, 2016, each student will submit a 6-10 page final paper also due before 11:00pm (local US time), which will include a description of the trip as well as a comprehensive analysis and reflection on major themes of learning from the experience.
